202 4th St. NE, Building C
Roanoke, VA, 24038

Defendant.

COMPLAINT

The above-named Plaintiff, Keith Carroll, by counsel, states as his Complaint against Defendant MemberOne Federal Credit Union (“MemberOne FCU”), the following:

I. JURISDICTION

1. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 and 42 U.S.C. § 12188, for Plaintiff’s claims arising under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (“ADA”), 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq.

2. Venue is proper in this jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(1)-(3) because Defendant resides in this District, Defendant’s principal place of business is in this District, a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to Plaintiff’s claim occurred in this District, and Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in this District.

II. THE PARTIES

3. Plaintiff is an adult resident of Virginia. Plaintiff is permanently blind and uses a screen reader in order to access the internet and read website content. Despite several attempts to use and navigate MemberOne FCU's website, www.memberonefcu.org, Plaintiff has been denied the full use and enjoyment of the facilities and services of memberonefcu.org as a result of accessibility barriers on memberonefcu.org. The access barriers on memberonefcu.org have caused a denial of Plaintiff's full and equal access multiple times. Similarly, the access barriers on memberonefcu.org have deterred Plaintiff from visiting MemberOne FCU's credit union locations.

4. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that MemberOne FCU is a federal credit union with its principal place of business located in Roanoke, Virginia, in this District. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that MemberOne FCU owns and operates credit union locations in Virginia. The credit union locations constitute places of public accommodation. MemberOne FCU's locations provide to the public important goods and/or services. MemberOne FCU also provides to the public the memberonefcu.org website. Memberonefcu.org provides access to MemberOne FCU's array of services, including a locator for the MemberOne FCU facilities, information that enables a person without an account to learn what services MemberOne FCU has to offer potential customers including descriptions of its amenities and services that enables a user to obtain general information about particular topics and specific information about what MemberOne FCU offers, and many other benefits related to these facilities and services. The MemberOne FCU facilities are public accommodations within the definition of Title III of the Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990 (“ADA”), 42 U.S.C. § 12181(7). Memberonefcu.org is a service, privilege, advantage, and accommodation of the MemberOne FCU facilities. Memberonefcu.org is a service, privilege, advantage, and accommodation that is heavily integrated with these locations.

5. At all times relevant to the Complaint, MemberOne FCU was acting through its agents, servants and/or employees.

III. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Applicability of the ADA to Commercial Websites

6. The Internet has become a significant source of information, a portal and tool for conducting business, and a means for doing everyday activities such as shopping, banking, etc. for both the sighted and blind, and/or visually-impaired persons.

7. Blind individuals may access websites by using keyboards in conjunction with screen-reading software that vocalizes visual information on a computer screen. Screen access software provides the only method by which a blind person may independently access the internet. Unless websites are designed to be read by screen reading software, blind persons are unable to fully access websites and the information, products and services contained thereon.

8. The international website standards organization, W3C, has published version 2.0 of the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (“WCAG 2.0”). WCAG 2.0 are well-established guidelines for making websites accessible to blind and visually-impaired people. These guidelines are successfully followed by numerous large business entities to ensure their websites are accessible. These guidelines recommend several basic components for making websites accessible including, but not limited to: adding invisible alternative text to graphics; ensuring that all functions can be performed using a keyboard and not just a mouse; ensuring that image maps are accessible; and adding headings so that blind people can easily navigate websites. Without these very basic components, a website will be inaccessible to a blind or visually-impaired person using a screen reader.

9. Within this context, numerous federal courts have recognized the viability of ADA claims against commercial website owners/operators with regard to the accessibility of such websites. See, e.g., Andrews v. Blick Art Materials, LLC, -- F. Supp. 3d --, 2017 WL 3278898, at *12, *15-*18 (E.D.N.Y. Aug. 1, 2017) (Weinstein, J.); Thurston v. Chino Commercial Bank, N.A., No. CV 17-01078 BRO (JCx), 2017 WL 3224681, at *5 (C.D. Cal. July 27, 2017) (citing Gorecki); Markett v. Five Guys Enterprises LLC, No. 1:17-cv-00788-KBF, slip op. at 4-6 [ECF #33] (S.D.N.Y. July 21, 2017); Gorecki v. Hobby Lobby Stores, Inc., No. 2:17-cv-01131-JFW-SK, 2017 WL

2957736 (C.D. Cal. June 15, 2017) (Walter, J.) (denying a motion to dismiss sought against ADA and California's Unruh Civil Rights Act claims) ("[T]his is a relatively straightforward claim that Hobby Lobby failed to provide disabled individuals full and equal enjoyment of goods and services . . . by not maintaining a fully accessible website. There is nothing unique about this case, as federal courts have resolved effective communication claims under the ADA in a wide variety of contexts-- including cases involving allegations of unequal access to goods, benefits and services provided through websites."); *Gil v. (denying the defendant’s motion to dismiss while relying on the Target decision as “persuasive”, and holding “the Complaint does allege that Bass Pro Shops is a chain of brick-and-mortar stores and that BassPro.com is a website providing information about Bass Pro Shops products, offers, and locations.... [and that] a nexus could be established here through discovery.”); Penney v. Kohl's Dep't

(denying a motion to dismiss and stating, “Thus, the Complaint states plausible facts that establish the requisite nexus between the challenged service and the place of public accommodation.”); National Ass’n of the Deaf v. Netflix, Inc., 869 F. Supp. 2d 196, 200 (D. Mass. 2012) (excluding web-based services would “run afoul of the purposes of the ADA and would severely frustrate Congress’s intent that individuals with disabilities fully enjoy the goods, services, privileges, and advantages available indiscriminately to other members of the general public”); id. at 200-01 (“[T]he legislative history of the ADA makes clear that Congress intended the ADA to adapt to changes in technology.”) (quoting H.R. Cal. 2011) (rejecting as “unpersuasive” Disney’s argument that “there is no accepted accessibility standard” and the argument that the DOJ has yet to determine what standards to apply to websites and stating, “The lack of a widely accepted standard for website accessibility does not preclude injunctive relief that would improve access to Defendants’ websites by the visually impaired.”); Nat’l Federation of the Blind v. Target Corp., 452 F. Supp. 2d 946, 953 (N.D. Cal. 2006) (“To limit the ADA to discrimination in the provision of services occurring on the premises of a public accommodation would contradict the plain language of the statute.”); id. at 953-54 (“consistent with the plain language of the statute, no court has held that under the nexus theory a plaintiff has a cognizable claim only if the challenged service prevents physical access to a public accommodation. Further, it is clear that the purpose of the statute is broader than mere physical access—seeking to bar actions or omissions which impair a disabled person’s “full enjoyment” of services or goods of a covered accommodation. 42 U.S.C. § 12182(a). Indeed, the statute expressly states that the denial of equal “participation” or the provision of “separate benefit[s]” are actionable under Title III. See 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(1)(A).”); cf. Hindel v. Husted, No. 2017 WL 432839, at *7 (S.D. Ohio Feb. 1, 2017) (granting a motion for preliminary injunction against the Ohio Secretary of State based on the accessibility of the state’s website under Title II of the ADA and requiring conformance with WCAG 2.0 Level A and AA Success Criteria).

The Inaccessibility of MemberOne FCU’s Website to the Visually-Impaired

10. MemberOne FCU offers the commercial website, memberonefcu.org, which provides, among other things, information concerning the MemberOne FCU locations it operates, information and descriptions of its amenities and services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations, and allows users to find the locations for them to visit.

11. Based on information and belief, it is MemberOne FCU’s policy and practice to deny blind users, including Plaintiff, equal enjoyment of and access to memberonefcu.org. Due to MemberOne FCU’s failure and refusal to remove access barriers on memberonefcu.org, Plaintiff and other blind and visually impaired individuals have been denied equal enjoyment of and access to the MemberOne FCU locations and to the other services, advantages, privileges, and accommodations offered to the public through memberonefcu.org.

12. MemberOne FCU denies blind individuals equal enjoyment of and access to the services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations and information made available through memberonefcu.org by preventing them from freely navigating memberonefcu.org. Memberonefcu.org contains access barriers that prevented free and full use by blind persons using screen reading software.

13. Memberonefcu.org's barriers are pervasive and include, but are not limited to, the following: (1) Linked image missing alternative text which presents a problem because an image without alternative text results in an empty link. Alternative Text is invisible code embedded beneath a graphical image on a website. Web accessibility requires that Alternative Text be coded with each picture so that a screen reader can speak the Alternative Text where a sighted user sees pictures. Alternative Text does not change the visual presentation, but instead a text box will pop-up when the mouse moves over the picture. The lack of Alternative Text on these graphics prevents screen readers from accurately vocalizing a description of the graphics. As a result, visually-impaired MemberOne FCU customers are unable to determine what is on the website, browse the site, look for the MemberOne FCU locations, check out Defendant's amenities, and/or determine which location to visit; (2) Redundant Links where adjacent links go to the same URL address which results in additional navigation and repetition for keyboard and screen reader users; and (3) Empty or missing form labels which presented a problem because if a form control does not have a properly associated text label, the function or purpose of that form control may not be presented to screen reader users. Form labels provide visible descriptions and larger clickable targets for form controls.

14. Due to the inaccessibility of memberonefcu.org, blind and otherwise visually impaired customers who use screen readers are hindered from effectively browsing for MemberOne FCU's locations, amenities and services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations that exist online unlike sighted users. If memberonefcu.org were accessible, Plaintiff could independently and privately investigate MemberOne FCU's services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations and amenities, and find the location to visit via MemberOne FCU's website as sighted individuals can and do.

15. Despite several attempts to use memberonefcu.org in recent months, the numerous access barriers contained on MemberOne FCU's website have denied Plaintiff's full and equal access, and deterred Plaintiff on a regular basis from accessing MemberOne FCU's website. Similarly, based on the numerous access barriers contained on memberonefcu.org, Plaintiff has been deterred from visiting MemberOne FCU's physical locations that Plaintiff may have located by using memberonefcu.org.

COUNT I: Violations of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §

12181 et seq.

16. Plaintiff incorporates by this reference the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

17. Section 302(a) of Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq., provides: "No individual shall be discriminated against on the basis of disability in the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations of any place of public accommodation by any person who owns, leases (or leases to), or operates a place of public accommodation.” 42 U.S.C. § 12182(a).

18. Under Section 302(b)(2) of Title III of the ADA, unlawful discrimination also includes, among other things: “a failure to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures, when such modifications are necessary to afford such goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to individuals with disabilities, unless the entity can demonstrate that making such modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of such goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages or accommodations”; and “a failure to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that no individual with a disability is excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than other individuals because of the absence of auxiliary aids and services, unless the entity can demonstrate that taking such steps would fundamentally alter the nature of the good, service, facility, privilege, advantage, or accommodation being offered or would result in an undue burden”. 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(ii)-(iii). “A public accommodation shall take those steps that may be necessary to ensure that no individual with a disability is excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently than other individuals because of the absence of auxiliary aids and services, unless the public accommodation can demonstrate that taking those steps would fundamentally alter the nature of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations being offered or would result in an undue burden, i.e., significant difficulty or expense.” 28 C.F.R. § 36.303(a). In order to be effective, auxiliary aids and services must be provided in accessible formats, in a timely manner, and in such a way as to protect the privacy and independence of the individual with a disability.” 28 C.F.R. § 36.303(c)(1)(ii).

19. MemberOne FCU’s locations are “public accommodations” within the meaning of 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq. MemberOne FCU generates millions of dollars in revenue from the sale of its amenities and services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations in Virginia through its locations and related services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations and memberonefcu.org. Memberonefcu.org is a service, privilege, advantage, and accommodation provided by MemberOne FCU that is inaccessible to patrons who are visually-impaired like Plaintiff. This inaccessibility denies visually-impaired patrons full and equal enjoyment of and access to the facilities and services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations that MemberOne FCU made available to the non-disabled public. MemberOne FCU is violating the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq., in that MemberOne FCU denies visually-impaired customers the services, privileges, advantages, and accommodations provided by memberonefcu.org. These violations are ongoing.

20. MemberOne FCU’s actions constitute intentional discrimination against Plaintiff on the basis of a disability in violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12181 et seq. in that: MemberOne FCU has constructed a website that is inaccessible to Plaintiff; maintains the website in this inaccessible form; and has failed to take adequate actions to correct these barriers even after being notified of the discrimination that such barriers cause.

21. Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12188 and the remedies, procedures, and rights set forth and incorporated therein, Plaintiff requests relief as set forth below.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for judgment against Defendant MemberOne Federal Credit Union for preliminary and permanent injunctive relief pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12188(a)(1) and (2), further equitable relief, and for costs and attorneys' fees, and for such other and further relief as may be just and equitable.
